

What we are

- The most comprehensive library dealing with safety. We are a "supermarket of safety information."
- Recognized by government agencies, universities, and research organizations as a primary source of safety and health information.
- Professional librarians who can provide safety information and statistics to help with decision-making.
- Our information services are available to the public. Most services are free to NSC members; nonmembers, see our fee schedule.

What we have

- Over 162,000 documents that cover a wide range of safety issues and topics, such as:
 - Safety management programs
 - Compliance and regulations
 - Safety systems
 - Ergonomics
 - Training
 - Statistics
 - Occupational safety
 - Traffic safety
 - Agricultural safety
 - Community safety
 - Home safety
- Information from reliable sources. We have books, research reports, and newsletters, as well as articles from professional journals and trade magazines.
- Documents dating back to the early 1900's, helping you put safety into context.

What we can do for you

- You don't have to come to the Library to use it. Most of our requests are handled by phone, fax, email, and conventional mail. Members have the additional option of searching the Library catalog online.
- During business hours, a librarian is available to discuss your information needs.
- Simple questions can be quickly answered; complicated questions may involve in-depth research.
