

DID YOU KNOW

FAILING TO SECURE LOADS CAN CAUSE LOADS OF TROUBLE.

When it comes to properly containing, immobilizing, and securing truck cargo, failing to consider a number of factors can lead to serious injury or loss of license—not to mention costly fines for your company. Things to check—and double check—include: cargo weight, height, and width; tie-down ratings, numbers, and applications; anchor points; blocking and bracing; tarps and covers; cargo bed debris and tool removal; pre-inspection; and “after starting” recheck inspections.

All must be considered and addressed to prevent cargo from leaking, spilling, blowing, or falling from the vehicle.
